Greetings Mrs. Jill Edwards.

Subject: Request for care and protection for victims of CYBERTORTURE in Spain, victims of crimes against life, health, freedom, sexual freedom, privacy, secrecy of communications, respect for religious symbols and feelings, against the right to effective judicial protection, etc.

From "VIACTEC Spain, Association of Victims of Cybertorture", as victims of torture and harassment tactics, in the modality recognized in the UN report A/HRC/43/49 of March 20, 2020 and concordant as cybertorture, we address your Hon. institution to expose, and therefore denounce, a very serious problem of violation of human and fundamental rights of the EC that affects hundreds of citizens in Spain, if not thousands, directly or in the most serious manner known and the so-called Oviedo Convention based on the aforementioned indirectly: the reality of the so-called "cybertorture", a phenomenon that extends to many countries, where there are more and more victims' associations are asking for effective protection against very serious crimes, protected by very serious corruption. Therefore, protection, investigation and prosecution of continuing crimes. This criminal reality has even led to calls for legislation on so-called neurorights, that is, specific respect for legal rights such as mental capacities, protection against the use biased of data derived from neurotechnological applications, protection against biases due to the use of data derived from neurotechnological applications, etc.

For the Spanish legal system, the legal rights that are attacked every day, very seriously and constantly, in the so-called cybertorture, through the use of the type of technologies described in this letter, are the rights to life, health, liberty, sexual freedom, effective judicial protection, secrecy of communications, etc., All of this as a criminal business, a business with very criminogenic effects that affects very serious corruption in different institutions of the State. Experiments are conducnted on victims, from a business that involves torture, disability, daily sexual crimes (it is not exaggerated), modern forms of slavery, such as the hacking of brain activity or criminal subjection to systems of neural interface managed with microwave technology, things that undoubtedly occur – with total certainty – in Spain, where there are victims treated as human guinea pigs, in fields such as the illegal development of neurotechnology privacy, free will, personal identity, equitable access to the improvement of brain and transhumanism, having violated the Nuremberg Code in Spain in the most serious manner known and the so-called Oviedo Convention based on the aforementioned, having disregarded in doing so the possibility that the soul and God exists.

All this makes the matter a topic of general interest. Crimes are committed throughout the national territory. There are victims living in many parts of the country. Crimes are committed against them wherever they go.

From VIACTEC, a legally constituted association, we are writing to you urgently to request investigation and action against the clandestine and illegal use of technologies such as neuroweaponry or cyberweapons, which are used to hacking and neurological manipulation, which are being used against the defenseless civilian population.

These technologies—such as brain-computer interfaces (BCIs), directed energy weapons, electromagnetic radiation weapons, pulsed microwaves, and artificial intelligence applied to remote neural monitoring—are generating serious physical, psychological, and social effects on affected people. Specific victims of torture and their environments.

We want to put on record that, among the victims, there are also children, people with disabilities and the elderly who are being subjected to these covert attacks, which allow lucrative profits, including neuromarketing, which makes this situation even more alarming and unacceptable from any point of view. Ethical, legal and humanitarian.

Report A/HRC/57/61, issued by the United Nations Special Rapporteur on Torture, recognizes the existence of new forms of non-conventional torture, in particular through surveillance technologies, remote control and neuropsychological manipulation. This report is a significant step in making visible the suffering of victims exposed to forms of aggression perpetrated remotely, aggressions that are difficult to prove without adequate methods, but which have devastating consequences for physical, psychological and social health. Although the seriousness of what is already perpetrated is not publicly recognized, of what can already be done with this type of technology. The testimonies of the Spanish victims are shocking. People who report obvious cases of torture. Physical and mental ones.

We are referring to the use of technologies such as neuro-weaponry, cyberweapons, sonic or frequency weapons, to torture, attack, harass, manipulate, subdue, hack, to interfere in the life, body and mind of victims who are systematically attacked. These are technologies that only work from the torture of human beings, as the UN Human Rights Council itself has recognized. These aggressions have destructive effects on the body

(the etiology of the damage is not well investigated, since the reality of torture in Spain is hidden), they can even murder, which complicates the denunciation and understanding of the facts, although the effects are serious, constant, extremely destructive. Crimes of induction to suicide have been documented in Viactec. This type of technology causes health effects such as those described in the so-called Havana Syndrome, investigated by the U.S. Administration, as it has affected officials in this country.

Technologies used:

1. "Brain-Computer Interface (BCI)", or Brain-Machine Interface.

Devices capable of decoding electrical signals from the brain (such as those emitted by neurons) and interfering with them through artificial intelligence and systems of connection to brain activity, which is effectively controlled, attacked, decoded, even having transfer or perfect communication with the torturers (there is no human way to deceive oneself about what is happening, of what is perpetrated). They are used to capture thoughts (this is scientifically correct), induce or project images, sounds, ideas, emotions, to motivate ideation, actions, purchases, acts of will, altering the cognitive and emotional activity of the victims. Behavior is controlled and manipulated (irritated or enervated, excited, sleeping, memory failures, etc.). The brain is hacked, literally. It is disabling technology, as brain activity is attacked. It has also been used in Spain to disable, causing Spanish citizens, taken as guinea pigs, to lose skills, such as memorization or the possibility of retaining information. Its use comes to constitute a modern form of slavery, as is obvious. Even spiritual freedom is impeded, as understood by Viktor Frankl in his book, Man's Search for Meaning. The control of the central nervous system means being able to torture at will, control or completely subdue the person. This is perpetrated in Spain with impunity. It is reiterated, the technology of hacking brain activity already allows aberrant uses, fully verified by multiple victims. By way of example, it is indicated that the much more advanced development of public patents is used, such as the following: Patent 3,951,134: Modifies brain waves at a distance. Patent 4,777,529: Unidirectional synthetic telepathy capable of modulating voices in the viewer's brain. Patent 5,123,899: Method and system for the alteration of consciousness. Patent 4858612 Device for mammals to hear voices inside the brain by means of microwaves. Patent 3837331 System and method for controlling the nervous system of an organism. Patent 5213562 Method for inducing physical and emotional states of consciousness, inducing brain activity. Patent 4335710 Device for the induction of specific brain waves.

Patent 3835833 Method to obtain specific Neurophysiological effects. Patent 4834701 Apparatus for inducing the reduction of electromagnetic waves and brain frequency. Patent WO2005055579A1 System for producing artificial telepathy.

There are hundreds of news items that indicate what we are dealing with, three are selected, as a brief example:

2. "Electromagnetic waves and directed microwaves:"

Directed energy technology (DEW, directed energy weaponry) used to emit microwaves or other frequencies that pass through walls, alter physiological functions, cause pain, internal or external burns (visible, Spanish victims have proof of this), extreme fatigue or insomnia. It is a type of weaponry. These frequencies can be used as invisible weapons, or difficult to detect, they can even cause cardiac arrest, blindness, strokes, strokes, or cancer. They also cause physical deformities or disability. In Spain they are also used in this way.

3. V2K, or contactless audio transmission system:

Voice transmission technique directly to the hearing system by means of modulated microwaves, without the need for external devices. Victims hear sounds, beeps, buzzes, threats, voices, taunts that do not come from the environment, but from a technological source. Experts who have worked with these technologies, such as Mr. Barrie Trower, explain it very well. This expert also indicates that it is carcinogenic technology. Technology used at will and massively, from 2019 to 2025, in cities such as Valladolid.

In this criminal context, the use of non-contact sound technology is well known, such as the so-called V2K, a method of sound direction to the skull, which is based on the applications that develop the so-called Frey effect (microwave hearing), known as early as World War II.

Colonel Don Pedro Baños Bajo, for example, has publicly mentioned the existence of these technologies that the victims know are used against defenseless citizens. Among the Spanish victims of this type of crime are young girls, the elderly and people with disabilities. In one of his videos, the Colonel explains how V2K works (it is very easy to provide an infinite amount of information that warns of the existence and trade of this type of weaponry):

https://www.facebook.com/share/v/1FrqeWSH7Y/

There are works on this type of technology, carried out by experts such as Colonel Don Luis Martín Otero,

Many other victims also suspect having implants in their bodies, obviously without their consent, which facilitate the use of this type of technology. In fact, it is impossible for neural interface systems managed with microwave technology not to work from very serious crimes committed with complicity in Public Health, which is a crack of enormous discredit for the Spanish Public Health System. What is necessary for this is injected. The denunciations in Spain are devastating in this regard (although there seem to be orders to hide the fact that torture is carried out in Spain, obviously as a business and as a method of using a type of weapon, which is constitutionally prohibited, everything that is done is criminal). Some of viticms have even published on their social networks images or medical reports reflecting these implants or the use of this type of technology, all from private initiatives, always hindered.

The broadcasts usually come from mobile or fixed sources that are difficult to detect, but usually at points close to the tortured, controlled, hacked, illegally spied on. There are patterns that point to a coordinated and structured system, capable of maintaining surveillance and aggression 24 hours a day. In Spain it has already been like this for years. Crimes are committed 24 hours a day... Victims suffer crimes 24 hours a day. Wherever they are.

Communications are also hacked by committing crimes, with the will or purpose of committing crimes.

Former members of the secret services have talked about these technologies in outreach programs such as "Cuarto Milenio". These topics are usually associated with programs with "mysterious" content (it only seems to be allowed to talk about these technologies in them, when it is very easy to accredit their reality, also in publications such as “Muy Interesante”, etc.), in order to discredit the possibility that this is indeed happening. To be able to call it into question, at the very least. Although there is a wealth of scientific information that can be easily found on neural interfaces, many patents on technologies for manipulating or controlling brain activity or on hacking of human beings, or on DARPA projects, are very public, it is also very easy to prove the existence of this type of weapon from their own business. This is proven beyond a reasonable doubt. Reality, as is also evident, shows that what is used is more developed than what is publicly known, the latter being something that shudders. There are military units in Spain dedicated to electronic warfare, the theoretical protection of the national electromagnetic field, etc. It is common knowledge that "electronic warfare involves the use of energy or electromagnetic weapons, from radio waves, microwaves, infrared, visible light or ultraviolet light, radiation of different types", etc., as can be verified with a simple consultation of Google's Artificial Intelligence applications. In electronic warfare there is even talk of "digital double" and modalities of attacks that include the hacking of human beings.

Effects on victims, but not exhaustive:

After years of documentation, compilation of testimonies and analysis of patterns, we can expose nearly 100 artificially induced physiological effects on the victims (we believe there are even more), described in the following paragraphs. Many of these effects coincide with the technical and human descriptions collected by people such as Dr. Rauni-Leena Luukanen-Kilde, who was a doctor and senior health official in Finland, in her work "Bright Light on Black Shadows" (2015), in which she exposed the existence of a target selection program for the use of electromagnetic weapons. which includes the non-consensual use of weapons for mental or behavioral control and manipulation, which has led to the illegal experimentation and development of utilities in the field of neurotechnology and transhumanism, as the Spanish victims know perfectly well, in a business that has grown exponentially in recent years (the Spanish victims understand that the development of modalities of weaponry whose use implies the attack has been allowed human beings, developing a system of aggressions protected by specific victims and their environments, giving rise to a breach of illegality that has been producing greater and greater criminal profits, greater profit, also giving rise to very serious corruption, with dystopian consequences for the very existence of the Rule of Law, see that a system of massive and constant criminality has been generated, which is also laundered, ending the guarantees of the rule of law for many people, affecting more and more people and even giving rise to modern forms of slavery, all in an enormously profitable and rapidly expanding business. This statement is categorical: there are people in Spain who have been de facto enslaved through the use of these technologies, who are tortured every day).

Dr. Kilde described a "modus operandi" in her aforementioned book (2015), which coincides with what many Spanish victims have suffered (the testimonies of previous Spanish victims have coincided with the exposition in the aforementioned work of a manual of practices for the selection of targets), which, in general, involves:

—Use of electromagnetic frequencies or neuroweapons to induce physical pain or alter cognitive and emotional functions.

—Hacking brain activity, affecting thinking, behavior, decisions, with directed brain stimulation. Even with great range...
—Organized harassment tactics and social discredit campaigns or in the relationship environment, in what is known as "street theater" or "electronic mobbing." A target is selected, the environment is spied on and manipulated, work life, social life is conditioned, to put the person in the situation that interests the torturers, psychological destabilization is sought, through these technologies and the use of the data obtained in this way, manipulating social environments, to then have the false alibi that torture is an invention of the tortured person, which is attributed to alleged cases of madness. In order not to investigate crimes. It is worse, because the system is based on very serious corruption. The alibi is used without scruples, even in the areas of authority conniving with this business. This gives rise to a very wide criminality in vital areas of the State. The products obtained with this business, which are increasing (technologies have given rise to new profits), are laundered in the legal market... With obvious regulatory fraud.

False diagnoses of psychiatric illnesses, or the use of the destabilization caused by these tactics and technologies, to make the victims invisible and delegitimized. By achieving medical utilities or in neurotechnology and transhumanism, complicity in the medical sector is exploited. There are doctors from the public health system denounced in cases of cybertorture. Even flagrant or gross falsehoods have been denounced in documents or medical reports, with the purpose of committing crimes and covering up crimes, by members of the Public Health System. For example, in Castilla y León. The victims are criminally used as human guinea pigs, violating medical ethics, the Penal Code, the EC, international treaties on Human Rights, the Nuremberg Code, the so-called Oviedo Convention, etc. It has even been documented that what is requested in complaints to the Office of the Ombudsman for the Patient is not answered, as if the Spanish Health Administration were being allowed to be corrupted, in order to hide the crimes, which are very serious.

—Constant violations of privacy. All kinds of aggressions. Physical and mental. Included, in the aggressions that are committed, sexual ones, due to the technological possibilities that already exist. In reality, sexual crimes of all kinds are perpetrated, based on the hacking of human beings and communications. Keep in mind that victims who suffer the criminal imposition of neural interface systems completely lose privacy. They do not even have mental privacy, which is why it has been claimed that this be included as a neuroright by scientists who are experts in this field.

—Unauthorized implantation, including microchips or nanosensors, or substances or technology necessary for the operation of a neural interface connected to and managed with microwave technology.

Appendix: "Effects induced on victims of cybertorture".

1. General Physical Effects:

—Stabbing, burning pains, or being subjected to electric shock for a few seconds or minutes, changing from one side of the body to the other with different intensity.

—Burning or cold sensation in localized areas. Alteration of the nervous system.

—Cramps, muscle spasms, or involuntary contractions.

—Inflammation or swelling without an identified medical cause.

—Bruises or marks without visible cause. For use of directed energy weapons or related reasons.

—Dizziness, dizziness or sudden lack of coordination.

—Localized or generalized tremors.

—Involuntary movements in some parts of the body.

—Pelvic, genital, thoracic or nape pain.

—Extreme fatigue not justified.

—Tachycardia, arrhythmias or induced chest pressure.

—Bone or joint pain, migratory pain.

—Sudden muscle fatigue. Also the destruction of muscle mass by continuous irradiation, due to this type of weaponry.

—Sudden loss of mobility of the lower limbs, preventing or hindering locomotion.

—Excessive sweating or no sweating.

—Frequent urination without medical cause.

—Menstrual alterations without hormonal diagnosis.

—Lumps that appear and disappear quickly in different parts of the body.
—Temporary deformations in various areas of the body. Or permanent deformation due to aggressions with this type of technology. Even as sexual torture.

—Stomach pain, nausea, and diarrhea with no apparent cause.

—A bubbling sensation in the stomach.

—Pain in the kidneys, spleen and back.

—Rapid heart rate.

—Toothache and persistent headache. From irradiation with cyberweapons.

—Hearing problems and blurred vision.

—Drowsiness or extreme induced tiredness.

—Sleep deprivation.

—A feeling of heat in the head or body.

—Induction of movements and/or replication of them.

—Transient aphasia (many victims report nominal aphasia). A memory area is blocked through aggression or speech is affected.

—Paresthesias in the lower and upper extremities.

NOTE: All these physical effects —plus those specified below— are usually transitory, sudden, as well as tendentious, appearing at specific moments of a positive or neutral nature, without accompanying prodromal symptoms or associated primary physical and/or psychological symptoms that trigger the symptomatic picture.

2. Sensory Effects:

—Tinnitus, ringing or auditory interference.

—Sensation of electric field or internal vibrations.

—Blurred vision, artificial lights, temporary blindness. Noticeable loss of visual acuity or hearing.

—Alteration of taste and smell.
—Tingling in the lips, tongue, scalp, or extremities.

—Eye pressure or pressure behind the eyes.

—Intense itching in different areas of the body.

—Burning sensation on the skin without redness or visible burns.

—Perception of current or heartbeat in the palate, throat or other parts of the body.

3. Neurological and Cognitive Effects:

—Mental blocks and difficulty concentrating.

—Short- or long-term memory loss. Disability.

—Temporal and spatial confusion.

—A feeling of cloudy mind or brain interference.

—Internal outbursts (sensation of mental "discharge").

—Brain vibration or intracranial pressure.

—Involuntary movements of the body or limbs. It has even been documented in complaint information, from a lecture given in a TEDx lesson, how the movement of an arm can be hacked with the use of this type of technology.

—Nystagmus (involuntary movements of the eyeball).

—Difficulty reading or sudden difficulty understanding simple texts. From the hacking of brain activity.

—Manipulation of thoughts or emotions.

—Speech alteration through external manipulation of language (through brain alteration), such as difficulty expressing correct words (anomia); alteration of verbal fluency or the involuntary introduction of unwanted terms (the hacking becomes so intense as to achieve this easily, the manipulation or induction of the logical course of thought has even been known), etc.

4. Psycho-emotional effects:

—Anxiety with no visible external cause.

—Abrupt and induced mood or mood changes.

—Intense emotions for no reason.

—Induced panic attacks.

—Emotional exhaustion.

—Post-traumatic stress.

—Artificial induction of laughter, without an emotional cause or external triggering stimulus, as a form of neurological interference or behavioral manipulation. Subjection to a neural interface allows this type of transfer with great intensity. Which is an atrocious form of slavery.

5. Sexual/Invasive Effects:

—Forced or intrusive sexual stimulation.

—Genital pain with no known medical cause. It is due to aggression.

—A feeling of rape or bodily invasion. What was perpetrated in Spain makes this even more dramatic. Keep in mind that the hacking of brain activity causes emotional states, memory failures, irresistible drowsiness, dizziness, cognitive alterations, enervation, anxiety, and also excitement... In Spain, commercial and sexual behaviour has been manipulated with this type of weaponry. Undoubtedly, in cities like Valladolid.

—Induced erections or lubrications, without triggering stimuli or symptoms.

—Alteration of sexual desire (sudden increase or loss). Imposition of sexual sensations, through aggression through neural interface.

—Induced orgasms without stimuli or triggering symptoms or performance of the sexual act.

—Sensation of touching in intimate areas without physical contact. And so on.

6. Effects During Sleep:

—Persistent or induced insomnia.

—Frequent micro-awakenings with startles.

—Feeling of being mentally manipulated during sleep.

—Sleep paralysis.

—Recurrent nightmares with traumatic content.

—Feeling of exhaustion after sleeping.

—Sleep interruptions caused by stimuli such as high-pitched beeps, infrasound, paresthesia in the upper and lower limbs or ramp-type discharges on the legs or soles of the foot, generating sudden awakenings and disturbance of rest.

6. Effects of Harassment and External Manipulation:

—Synchronized harassment and/or street theater.

—Interference in electronic devices (TV, radio, computer, mobile phone).

—Feeling of being watched or followed due to organized harassment tactics. Real espionage. Or hacking with a neural interface system that causes a total loss of privacy.

—Defamation and manipulation of social networks to discredit the victim.

—Constant cyberbullying as part of psychological harassment.

—Dissemination of personal information without consent.

7. Coronary and respiratory effects:

"Palpitations without physical effort.

—Chest tightness, shortness of breath, or feeling suffocated (physical suffocation).

—Sensation of electric shock in the heart. Or heart rhythm control.
—"Skipped" heartbeats or momentary heart blocks.

—Pain on the left side of the chest.

—Induced hypoxia.

8. Digestive and Metabolic Effects:

—Sudden nausea without digestive cause.

—Abdominal swelling.

—Sudden changes in weight (gain or loss).

—Constipation or cyclical diarrhea not related to diet.

—Feeling of artificial hunger or total lack of appetite.

—Extreme dryness in the mouth or throat.

—Sudden dehydration despite normal intake.

—Pressure from the digestive tract and bladder to act as a bowel movement and urinate forcefully; loss or alteration of sphincter control.

—Sensation of vibration in the stomach area, both during food intake and in a resting state, with no apparent medical cause. And so on.

9. Behavioral Alteration Effects:

—Emotional conditioning: manipulation of feelings and emotional response, such as sudden irritability without a triggering stimulus with alteration of tone, words or communicative intention. Provocation of emotional states. Production of desires to buy or to move, of euphoria. Excitation. Sleepiness. Provocation of ideation. Blocking cognition or interrupting communicative feedback, or memory blocks or attacks on it. Control and manipulation of behavior. And so on.

9. Effects on Skin and Tissues:

—Anywhere on the body: pricking sensation (mainly in the head) or needles under or on the skin.
—Anywhere on the body: localized redness without allergy or exposure.

—Anywhere on the body: appearance and disappearance of spots, hives or blisters.

—Areas that cool down abruptly with no visible external cause.

—Irritation in the genitals, anus, eyes or mouth.

—Feeling of internal burns with no visible signs.

—In some cases, a purplish coloration with a reticulated pattern with no apparent medical cause manifests itself on the legs.

10. Effects on the Head and Neck:

—Sensation of pressure waves in the skull or neck.

—Sensation of currents or penetrating "blows" in various areas of the head.

—Stabbing pain in various areas of the head, in the inner ear, between the fingers and nails, inside the mouth (gums, tongue, etc.) on the soles of the feet, in the eyes (in the retina), in the penis, testicles and anus.

—Intense itching and stinging in various areas of the head; itching or rough throat clearing on the inside of the neck causing coughing.

—Vibration in the jaw, tongue or palate.

—Neck pain.

—Inflammation without medical cause in glands in the neck.

—Pressure in various areas of the head such as temples, frontal or occipital area.

—Auditory manifestation consisting of the perception of radio-like sounds inside the head, known as the Frey effect or V2K (voice to skull), attributed to technological interference used for manipulation and control purposes. In cases of criminal implantation of a neural interface, it occurs with perfect communication and transference with the senders, with the torturers.
—A feeling of pressure or abnormal load on the spine.

—A feeling of blockage, blockage, or itching inside the ear with no apparent trigger, which can affect hearing and balance.

11. Profound Psychological Effects:

—In some cases there is a feeling of total isolation (social and emotional). Or action is taken to make it effective. In order to prevent the criminal reality from being known and persecuted.

—In certain cases, blocking when seeking help or expressing oneself.

—In certain cases, generation of uncertainty or hesitation when making decisions or carrying out actions.

—Anxiety about being monitored due to the lack of mental privacy that the improper use of these technologies entails.

—A state of sustained stress that, if not managed properly, can lead to chronic anxiety or stress-related disorders.

—This type of aggression can reduce the level of activity of the person, although there are different levels of targeting —while some victims can continue working or maintain a certain functionality, others cannot, because the sabotage is absolute—; In certain cases, the consequences are profoundly devastating, seriously affecting physical, mental, emotional health and social relationships.

The physical alterations and alterations in daily or emotional activity suffered by the victims – in their different degrees or magnitude – are due to what they must endure, these effects not having any relation to behavioural or psychological processes or to present or previous physical or biological factors. In any case, these effects constitute a permanent causal factor for the development of physical and/or mental symptoms. Normally, they are physical and psychological.

Therefore, as victims of cybertorture, we are concerned about the medium and long-term effects that constant exposure to these technologies (neurotechnologies, electromagnetic waves, etc.) can cause in our body, even death, since it is really tortured; this situation increases physical suffering and psychological, by living under constant aggression that is not visible or recognized by the authority, without adequate legal or medical protection.

In any case, the following are common:

—Throbbing physical pain with no apparent clinical cause and outside the parameters of normality.

—Disability. Such as loss of memory or visual, auditory or olfactory capacity. Muscle or organ breakdown. Hair loss from irradiation. Injuries, etc.

—Manipulation of sleep, behavior and/or emotional state.

—Social and family isolation due to isolation tactics carried out for this purpose (to allow torture and experimentation). In slang, in Spain we speak of "making the mushroom". They seek to misunderstand the environment, also by hacking people from the main victim's close life circle. There are always more victims in the environments than those who are consciously tortured. Victims of torture were already suffering crimes before they knew what cybertorture is and before they knew they were being subjected to cybertorture tactics and technologies. There are victims who begin to suffer these manipulations or aggressions from childhood, since they have unrestricted access to a social environment. These technologies also make it possible to obtain data of economic interest from hacked, spied on, manipulated environments – including behavioural, preference or consumption data. New victims are being added, from the "cooking" of the spied lives. Working life is difficult or impossible. The victim is placed in the situation that suits the torturers, and his psychological destabilization is also sought, with criminal tactics perpetrated for this purpose, which is used as criminal cover.

—Technological sabotage (devices are systematically failed). Even vehicles, with the danger that this entails. Keep in mind that hacking the victim already introduces a risk to driving. Etc.

—Alteration of cognitive functions: memory, speech, attention. Obvious memory loss and cognitive impairment occur. Memory areas are blocked as a tactic of aggression. Submission to the neural interface means that even reading is impeded, with constant aggressions, of which the victim is perfectly aware. Sexual assaults, or sexual crimes of all kinds, committed by those responsible for cybertorture are also common. "Neuromodulation" occurs. Etc.

—Attempt at psychiatrization based on the use of this type of technology, or through harassment tactics, as a modus operandi to cover up crimes. People related to different areas of activity lend themselves to it, based on an enormously lucrative criminal reality. There is complicity between the medical sector, in areas that take advantage of illegal experimentation in neurotechnology, neurology, transhumanism, etc. All of this is whitewashed. We have reports, for example, made by expert engineers on the frequencies and where they come from.

—Accumulated psychological damage: anxiety, despair, suicidal ideation. Crimes of induction to suicide occur. Torture is never investigated. There are Spanish victims or residents in Spain who have died after denouncing torture with these technologies.

These crimes are usually accompanied by stalking, theatre and/or street harassment operations, seeking the aforementioned purposes. There are even manuals published in research works on harassment tactics for the use of this type of technology that fit perfectly with the crimes that we Spanish victims have known as such. The dwelling is searched, seeking to produce anxiety in the harassed people, without valuables being stolen and without the victims being able to understand the object of such entries at first. And so on.

We therefore request:

That this form of covert torture, called by the UN Human Rights Council "cybertorture", which violates the most relevant human rights, be investigated as a matter of priority.

—That legal action be taken against those responsible for the implementation and use of these technologies, applied without consent or judicial control (it is recalled that torture is prohibited in Spain).

That legislation be urgently passed to protect citizens against these highly sophisticated crimes. That this reality be made public, with the necessary adaptation of the rules to make it easier to prosecute.

It also requests the opening of a channel of protection and complaint for victims, as well as the promotion of the adaptation of criminal regulations and the protection of rights in the face of this type of violations or attacks against legal rights such as freedom of thought and conscience, mental privacy, personal identity, free will; undoubtedly, life, health, freedom, sexual freedom, privacy, the secrecy of communications, etc., in accordance with what the possibilities of increasing brain capacities suppose, which presents ethical dilemmas that should already be in the public debate – in the political, in the academic, and in the media. from what was actually perpetrated. It is an essential topic for current bioethics. It is not being treated with lucidity, among other things, due to the lack of knowledge of this criminal reality.

In Spain, in addition, in this same criminal context, the most serious violation of the Nuremberg Code of which there is legal knowledge has been perpetrated, in the face of which it already allows the most perfect scanning of tissues and materials and the most perfect transfer of data, even conforming to the personality, for the achievement of the ultimate goal of transhumanism. through torture and a modern form of slavery, as an international business with a transhumanist purpose, and an entire city has been allowed to be subjected to the extension, with social and collective experimentation, of the type of utilities that are sought with cybertorture against specific targets or environments. A city has been controlled and manipulated in this way. Which has undoubtedly occurred – the last two things – in Valladolid, Spain, from 2019 to today, with very serious previous crimes, with crimes that undoubtedly affect thousands of people. All of this is very easy to prove. In the face of this, perpetrated as a business, effective judicial protection has been impeded, with constant criminality, with systematic criminality, even the possibilities of denunciation being controlled. It is as if the Spanish Constitution had been de facto repealed, in terms of its essential root, that is, in relation to Fundamental Rights. With the aggravating circumstance, of having been allowed as a business. As a betrayal of the Spanish nation. Since 2019. In something previously planned.

It has been perpetrated in this way, with the same type of technology, social or collective experimentation, profiling and manipulating the population. In a humiliating way.

To sum up, everything has perpetrated is as a very serious violation of the Nuremberg Code, really implies "the bankruptcy of the species".

Victims be recognized as such and guaranteed their access to reparation, medical and psychological assistance, as well as legal protection. Therefore, effective "effective judicial protection". Since it has disappeared in Spain for many people, due to the force of this criminal business. We recall that this type of practice can be framed as "crimes against humanity", as is beginning to be recognized in international forums. Victims cannot continue to be silenced or delegitimized; they deserve justice.

Prosecution of these crimes should lead to the obligation, imposed by the competent judicial authority, to make the crimes public by the press, which currently knows that they are being committed or that they have been committed, and in breach of legality and its professional obligation, allow them, have allowed them, without informing public opinion (without having informed public opinion). Which is why what is referred to as treason to the nation has been perpetrated. They have accepted the censorship of information about this reality.

More and more associations in different countries are calling for these crimes to be investigated and stopped, such as Libertech in Chile, Salto Cuántico in Brazil, or ICATOR in Belgium. There are also victims' associations in the US, Germany, France, Italy, China, an so on.

We also, would like to point out that "cybertorture" has been recognized by international organizations, as reflected in the report A/HRC/43/49 of March 20, 2020 of the United Nations Special Rapporteur on Torture, which warns about the use of neuroelectronic technologies and remote surveillance as possible methods of psychological and neurological torture.

From our association, we repeatedly demand official recognition as "victims of cybertorture", as well as the need to legislate and protect the so-called "neurorights" ("mental privacy, free will, equal access to the improvement of brain capacities, personal identity, protection against bias with data obtained through neurotechnology), to prevent the victims, and we can all be, from being victims of cybertorture". continue to live in a situation of absolute legal, social and human helplessness.

We hope that you, as guarantor of the rights of citizens, will successfully initiate the appropriate investigations.

Kind regards

A list of victims reporting cybertorture in Spain hasn`t been added. There are more non-associated victims in Spain, there are more victims in the environments, as stated in private complaints, victims who do not appear on this list. There are even moles in the association itself, people dedicated to hindering the work of denouncing it, which also means that they commit crimes in this context.

As the Hon. Prosecutor's Office knows, the reporting of false crimes is a crime, the invention of crimes is also a crime, and the impersonation of victims, not being victims, for the aforementioned purpose, is also a crime, the truth being that real victims cannot investigate the veracity of the testimonies we collect, beyond the data provided by complainants of torture. The knowledge that crimes against life, health, integrity, freedom, sexual freedom are perpetrated on a regular and protected basis, as in the case of victims of cybertorture, and even when their knowledge is limited to future, specific or specific events, implies the obligation to report it under article 450.2 of the Spanish Criminal Code. Among the victims of the cybertorture plot in Spain are young girls, the elderly and people with disabilities; also a multitude of affected people who do not know the origin of the aggressions or manipulations in their lives.

Many victims are also uncomfortable witnesses of the knowledge of this criminality about other people who have not been consciously tortured but who have been affected by the use of this type of technology or manipulation tactics.

All this makes it a massive crime, of immense gravity.

It is not specified in the letter, but this plot has committed constant crimes against religious symbols and feelings, even in churches, even against priests and parishioners. In reality, even in Spain, through these crimes, the possibility that the soul and God exist have been despised.
